

One more glass ceiling has been shattered. Another summit has been scaled. The women have done it. Their feat in the inaugural version of the Women's Premier League has reaffirmed my faith, as that of millions in the country, that our women have it in them to chart their own course in sports history on the world stage. So whether it is the world boxing championship or competing in the most glamorous and professional cricketing extravaganza in the world, they are second to none. The inaugural edition of the WPL, which concluded at the Brabourne Stadium here on Sunday, will forever be remembered fondly. The tournament proved that women's cricket has finally arrived in India in its full glory. Its ripples will be felt across the cricketing globe. Mumbai Indians were crowned champions at the inaugural Women's Premier League (WPL) after Nat Sciver-Brunt's unbeaten 60 secured their seven-wicket victory against Delhi Capitals in the final at the Brabourne Stadium Stadium on Sunday. Sciver-Brunt, the league's most expensive foreign recruit along with Australia's Ashleigh Gardner, sealed victory in the final over with a paddle shot that raced to the boundary. Harmanpreet Kaur won the award for catch of the season. Hayley Matthews claimed the purple cap. Meg Lanning won the orange cap. The tournament will feature five franchises namely Mumbai Indians, Royal Challengers Bangalore, Delhi Capitals, Gujarat Giants, and UP Warriorz. A total of 22 matches will be played throughout the tournament which will be held across two stadiums- the Brabourne Stadium and the DY Patil Stadium.
